

ABSTRACT

Handwriting data is received electronically from a remote user at a handwritten-information server, and the handwriting data is processed in accordance with instructions provided to the server by the user, e.g. by forwarding the handwriting data to a specified destination identified by the user.

20185959

Attorney Docket 11627-004001